

FRIDAY

For Friday, a Jack Russell Terrier, "the nose knows." Friday LOVES to eat, and he can smell a hot-dog 200 yards away. A dog with a mission, nothing can stop Friday once he sets his sights on a delicious snack. Andi and Bruce have taken care of Friday since he was a puppy, even when they had to keep him hidden from their foster parents. With snow-white fur, distinctive brown ears, and bright eyes, Friday definitely stands out in a crowd and is the natural leader of the hotel's dog-pack. He makes sure to keep an eye on the other dogs so that nothing gets out of hand.

COOPER

To Cooper, the world is one big chew-toy, and he doesn't see a difference between a nice big bone, and, say, an $800 pair of shoes. All he knows is that when he sees something, he wants to sink his teeth into it. Maybe that's why Cooper has never been adopted. Cooper is a funny, loveable goof. With his happy smile, scrunched up face, and short legs, he makes quite a sight getting shoes out of his vending machine or running on the treadmill. Even though he can't run very fast, Cooper's strong jaws will come in handy if his friends in the hotel ever need his help.

DOG HOROSCOPE - ARIES March 21 - April 19

It's a great month to be a dog! This winter, focus on maintaining your puppy-like enthusiasm and terrific physique. If you are lucky enough to have snow where you live, run and roll. It's great for the coat but remember - don't eat yellow snow.

ANGELA

This little Chihuahua has a hard time keeping up because of her small size. As the runt of the litter, she was abandoned because the breeder didn't think he could sell a sickly little dog. As a guest in the hotel, though, she'll find out that it's not the size of the dog that counts, it's the size of her heart that's important. And with the hotel's "stroller-coaster" which automatically brings her up the hotel's grand staircase, Angela doesn't have to worry about being left behind anymore.

You know that cats are snobs, and after last Christmas you have proof. Did Fluffy share any of her toys with you? NO!!! You aren't stubborn, you are just right.

GEORGIA

Small in size but big in personality, Georgia also has a big bark, but only when Lenny is around to protect her. She has more energy than an eight-year-old kid after a chocolate binge, and some may even say she's a bit of a pest. To burn off some of that energy, Georgia loves to play fetch, and like a boomerang, she always comes back to you. Bruce builds her a fetch machine so she won't drive everybody crazy. Although she's happy to have company in the hotel, Georgia's a little jealous that Lenny is making friends with the new dogs, especially Friday. After all, it's just been the two of them for a long time.

When was the last time you had a true howl at the moon? You may be civilized, but inside you beats the heart of a "wild" dog. Next full moon, leter rip.

COCO

Coco and his two other friends, Harley and Rocky, met each other out in the woods. Even though they are different breeds (Mutt, Mastiff and Beagle), they became fast friends and made their own little home under a tree. Rocky looks for food, Harley buries their bones and Coco sounds the alarm if anyone comes close. Unfortunately, the Animal Control officers grabbed Coco before she could warn her friends, and the ACO scored a hat-trick by catching all three. Now they have a home in the hotel for as long as they want until someone adopts all three together.

JULIET

When Mark found Juliet, her fur was dirty and matted and she was living on the streets. But as soon as she got to the Hotel, she got a complete makeover thanks to Heather and the Hotel for Dogs crew. Although she could probably have the pick of the litter when it comes to male suitors, Juliet prefers to be with someone who can look beneath the surface. After all, every poodle wants to find her very own Romeo.

HENRY

Henry may look big and tough, but he's really a pussycat at heart. His ex-owner wanted him to be a mean and vicious guard dog, but Henry only wants to lick everyone's faces and have his belly scratched. Lucky for Henry, Bruce rescued him and brought him to live with the other dogs in the hotel. And maybe someday, he'll become brave enough to help the kids out when they really need him.

SHEP

Do you know anyone that can't stand for things to be untidy or disorganized? Well that's Shep. A beautiful black and white Border Collie, Shep's grandparents probably worked in the fields herding sheep. Since Shep doesn't have sheep of her own, she likes to keep all the other dogs (and people) organized. In fact, Shep can't stand it if anyone is out of line. Thankfully, Bruce has made Shep her very own sheep to herd so she can stop bossing everyone else around. She now gives "counting sheep" a whole new meaning. And maybe in the end, her herding skills will even make her a hero.

Well - Santa is on vacation, so let the fur fly.

LENNY

Lenny, at 160 pounds, is the gentle giant of the group. Since opposites attract, his best friend is Georgia, a tiny Boston Terrier. This odd couple has been living alone together in the old, abandoned hotel and were excited when they got unexpected guests. Georgia sees Lenny as her bodyguard, but Lenny wouldn't hurt a fly. In fact, all Lenny really wants to do is look out the window. Since he's the quiet type, though, he likes to have Georgia around to do all his talking for him.

VIOLA

Inseparable since birth, long-haired dachshund twins Viola and Sebastian have been living on the street and watching out for one another since they were pups. One day, while being chased by Animal Control Officers, Viola followed Sebastian under a fence, but her hair got snagged (that's the problem with being "long-haired"). Although she wanted Sebastian to go on without her, he ran back and waited with her until Andi and Dave could rescue them both. Just like Andi and Bruce, Sebastian and Viola have promised to always stay together, and they can't wait to find a family who will take them both.
